

My Replay Baseball Encyclopedia 18th Edition- April 2024

A complete record of my full-season Replays of the 1908, 1930, 1934, 1941, 1944, 1950, 1952, 1955, 1956, 1957, 1960, 1963, 1966, 1967, 1968, 1970, 1971, 1972, 1975, 1978, and 1979 Major League seasons as well as the 1923 Negro National League season.

This encyclopedia includes the following sections:

- A table of pennant, World Series, and award winners
- A list of no-hitters
- A season-by season recap in the format of the Neft and Cohen Sports Encyclopedia-Baseball
- Top ten single season performances in batting and pitching categories
- Career top ten performances in batting and pitching categories
- Complete career records for all batters (Now with a comparison to actual “career” totals for the seasons played)
- Complete career records for all pitchers (Now with a comparison to actual “career” totals for the seasons played)
- Complete post-season records for all batters
- Complete post-season records for all pitchers

Introduction

Hi,

If you have looked at previous editions of this odd publication, thanks for coming back. If you are new, I should explain what this is.

I roll complete Major League Baseball seasons with Replay's board game, using actual lineups and transactions. I started doing this in 2004 and the just-completed 1971 season is the 21st one I have finished. This encyclopedia is like a standard baseball encyclopedia, except it contains stats from my Replays rather than from real seasons. The next couple of pages recap the pennant and award winners from those campaigns, then after a list of no-hitters comes a section that is designed after the wonderful Neft and Cohen The Sports Encyclopedia Baseball, which was a season-by season team-by-team presentation of batting and pitching stats. Top ten lists of single-season batting and pitching stats follow and then comes the same thing for my "career" leaders.

Next up is the season-by-season batting and pitching records for every player who has appeared in one of my seasons. There is a row at the bottom of each player's section that shows his actual totals from the real versions of those seasons.

Finally, the last section shows each player's post-season stats.

This encyclopedia adds something to playing the games for me and I really appreciate anyone who takes a little time to look at this compilation.

Thanks.

Mike Mathias

1934

Dizzy Dean won 27 games to lead the Cardinals to the National League pennant. The Cards had to run down the surprising Dodgers in September to repeat their actual 1934 flag. In the American League, the Yankees won 104 games to finish eight lengths ahead to the Tigers. Dean and Yankee hurler Lefty Gomez copped their league's MVP honors. In the World Series, Gomez bettered Dean twice as the Yankees prevailed in five game. Lou Gehrig slugged three home runs.

1944

The two St. Louis clubs reprised their pennants from the actual season with the Browns actually winning in a runaway and the Cardinals facing a challenge from the Pirates into September. The Tigers, who finished a game behind the Browns in the real season, fell badly afoul of the dice to finish last. The Yankees' Johnny Lindell took an outside chance at winning his loop's triple crown into the last day of the season before falling short in both batting average and home runs to teammates. Pittsburgh pitcher Rip Sewell won 25 games. MVPs were Stan Musial in the NL and Lindell in the AL. The Browns shocked the heavily favored Cardinals in five games in the Fall Classic.

1957

The Yankees were never challenged in the American League on their way to a 109 win season. In the National League, the Dodgers used two winning streaks to claim the pennant in their final year in Brooklyn. A 17-game run in July put them in the race and, after they fell three back of the Braves in mid-September, an eight-game streak propelled them to a close triumph.

Ted Williams copped his third .400 season for me and smacked 50 homers to edge 53-homer man Roy Sievers and Mickey Mantle for the American League MVP. Stan Musial led the National League in average and RBI to claim its MVP. Yankee Tom Sturdivant went 19-3 to cop the Cy Young Award. Rookies of the Year were Yankee utilityman Tony Kubek and Cubs righty Dick Drott.

The World Series was a classic. The Dodgers won the first three games only to see the Yankees battle back to tie the Series. Game Seven went to the Dodgers on an unearned run in the top of the 16th inning.

1966

The Orioles and Dodgers repeated their real season pennants. Jim Ray Hart belted 48 home runs and drove 133 runs to cop the National League MVP Award. Frank Robinson fell short of all three legs of his real 1966 triple crown, but he still garnered the AL's MVP award in a close vote. The Phillies' Jim Bunning won 26 games to claim the Cy Young Award. In the Series, the Dodgers reversed their fortunes from the real '66 WS with a four games to two victory. John Roseboro and Lou Johnson had the big hits as they won a couple of 11 inning games including the Series clincher. This project began in March 2013 and finished in April 2014.

1967

The real 1967 season featured a famous four-team race in the American League and a comfortable Cardinals win in the NL. My Replay more or less reversed the proceedings with the Red Sox taking the junior loop by nine games, while the Reds chased the Cards to the wire. Even so, this was the first time I had the same two teams in the World Series as real life, although this time the Red Sox won the series four games to two to end the "Curse of the Bambino" 37 years earlier than they did in real life.

The highlight of this one was Carl Yastrzemski's repeat of his actual season triple crown. A macabre note to this one was that in the Replay of the August 18 Red Sox- Angels game in which Tony Conigliaro was beamed and badly injured in real life, I rolled a hit-by-pitch for Conigliaro. I removed him from the game at that point.

This project began in January 2007 and finished in September 2009.

1970

The Reds, Orioles, and Twins each repeated their actual division pennants. The Mets and the Pirates tied in the NL East, requiring a playoff game that the New Yorkers won in a 16-inning classic. American League MVP Boog Powell (50, 153, .349) missed the triple crown by .00003 in batting average. Powell's Baltimore teammate Mike Cuellar (24-9) claimed the AL's Cy Young Award and Cleveland's Roy Foster was the junior loop's rookie of the year. In the National League, Tony Perez (53, 167, .337) edged out Cincinnati teammate Johnny Bench (51, 148, .288) for the MVP Award. Ferguson Jenkins went 27-9 to claim the NL Cy Young and Montreal's pitcher Carl Morton rode a 20-win campaign to top rookie honors. The Mets and Twins prevailed in their respective League Championships Series and it was the Twins who took the World Series in seven games.

This project began in September 2021 and finished in July 2022.

The Orioles set an all-time wins record with their 119-39 record. The other three division winners from the real season—Oakland, Pittsburgh, and San Francisco all repeated. Baltimore had its four 20-game winners with Dave McNally finishing with a 23-1 record for a record winning percentage. Norm Cash led in home runs and RBI to claim the AL MVP Award. Hank Aaron hit 50 home runs on his way to also leading his loop in HR and RBI to claim the NL MVP honors. McNally won his league's Cy Young, overcoming Vida Blue's 27 wins and 313 strikeouts. Tom Seaver led the NL in wins, ERA, and strikeouts to claim his league's Cy Young prize. Chris Chambliss and Earl Williams claimed the AL and NL Rookie of the Year Awards, respectively.

In the two LCS's, the underdog Western Division champs both prevailed in five games. The World Series saw record numbers of home runs, but it was pitcher Juan Marichal who had the historic Series. Marichal went 3-0 with two shutouts. In Game Seven, he pitched a shutout and slugged two home runs, good for five runs.

This was my first Replay card set and my first project with this remarkable board game that has come to be a very big part of my life. The only one of the four actual division winners from 1978 who didn't repeat in the Replay were the World Champion Yankees who were dethroned by the Red Sox. Only the National League East provided any kind of race. The Dodgers, Royals, Red Sox, and Phillies won 110, 109, 106, and 96 games, respectively. The Red Sox and Phillies met in a rematch of the 1915 World Series with the Red Sox prevailing in five games.

This first ever of my Replay projects began in July 2004 and finished in February 2006.

1979

Dave Kingman hit 65 home runs for the Cubs to set a new record for my projects. The Pirates, Reds, and Royals won their divisions comfortably while the Orioles and Red Sox engaged in an epic battle for AL East honors. Boston was on top for most of the season before the Baltimore edged ahead in the season's final week. The two clubs were required to play some make-up games after the scheduled end of the campaign before the Birds finally prevailed. In the League Championship Series, the Orioles swept the Royals to reach the Series as in real life, but their opponents were different as the Reds took a five game series from the Bucs. In the Fall Classic, the Reds prevailed in six games. This one began in January 2017 and finished in April 2018.
